Cutting Affray Near Temecula

Tom Baird runs amuck and three men are badly slashed by him.

City Marshal Charles Townsend and C. S. Wright returned Friday from a search for Tom Baird, who Sunday night cut three of his fellow workmen at the Hyde Construction camp below Temecula and made his escape in one of the San Diego stages.

A warrant was sworn out Tuesday night. This gave the marshal a start so far behind the fellow that he was unable to apprehend him. He was traced to Oceanside and the officers went into Mexico looking for him but got no trace.

Tom Baird, the man who cut three fellow workmen with a knife Sunday night, August 6, at the Hyde Construction camp below Temecula and was traced to Oceanside by City Marshal Townsend, was arrested Saturday, a week later, in San Diego.

Tuesday afternoon he was brought before Justice Carter for a preliminary hearing. Sheriff Wilson, brought the prisoner here, and accompanied by Deputy District Attorney (Kely?) and a court reporter.

The warrant charging Baird with assault with a deadly weapon was sworn in by George T. Williams, a blacksmith at the construction camp. Baird was Williams' helper. Williams' face was cut from his ear to the point of his chin.

Testimony brought on the fact that a dozen and half bottles of booze were probably active agents in the mix up.

Harry Greely, who was cut on the nose, could not be located, but Sam Bates, who was cut across the throat, was present at the hearing. Fred J. Ludy, a witness called by Baird, was found to know nothing about the affair and F. D. Berrigan, another witness for Baird, was not put on the stand. Rex Carson, yet another Baird witness was found to be under arrest in San Diego for forgery.

Baird preferred not to give testimony at this time, but it is safe to say that the court reporter did not neglect to take down some interesting remarks, which he made during the trial relative to what "the other fellows" did to him before he pulled his knife.

Baird was held to answer in the superior court of Riverside County and was placed under $2000 bail. He is a convict out under parole, and has been reporting to Marshal Townsend every month.

Catholic Church for Temecula

A meeting of businessmen was held in the Bank hall at Temecula Monday night, Dec. 4. Mr. Shumate, cashier of the Temecula bank, was chairman. There were present Rev. J. J. Burri, August Cantarini, Mr. Barnett, Mac Machado and other prominent citizens. It was the third meeting that has been held.

It is planned to build a Catholic church in Temecula and the businessmen generally think it will be a good thing for the town. Six town lots have been secured on the main boulevard near the beautiful new grammar school. Mac Machado, a popular public spirited merchant, made a liberal donation on the price of two lots and the Santa Fe Ry. Co. did likewise on the other four, so the new church is provided with six slightly building lots.

Rev. J. J. Burri has been very successful in raising funds. If built of stone, the stone will be donated and if parties can be induced to donate the hauling, it will be possible to build a church valued at $3,000 to $4,000. If a wood frame church be decided upon, a frame structure to cost about $1500 will be erected.

Five hundred dollars cash has been donated through the Catholic Church Extension Society of Chicago. An altar from the same source has been donated. The society secured the money from a wealthy gentleman in the east. The Diocese of the Catholic Church of Southern California purchased the lots. Towards the building fund $500 is promised, but it is hoped that the total will be much greater. Work will begin very soon and the new church will be completed early in January.

Temecula is certainly coming to the front. In the past year a fine new two-story concrete bank building was erected. The new bank is in a very prosperous condition. A beautiful new grammar school has been opened and now it is proposed to build a handsome church.

Mac Machado, the prominent merchant, is the pioneer in building a beautiful and costly store building. The Machado store is one of the best attractions in Temecula.
